Mobile Instrument Service and Repair Acquires Canada Endoscope Instrument and Repairs

OSHAWA, March 2, 2018 – Mobile Instrument Service and Repair (“MISR”), a privately-held Canadian provider of on-site and off-site surgical instrument repair and maintenance services, is pleased to announce the purchase of Canada Endoscope Instrument and Repair (“CEIR”).

CEIR was established by Philip J. O’Brien as the repair and servicing arm of endoscopes, telescopes and surgical equipment distributed by its sister company, Canada Endoscope Corporation (“CEC”).

“We are pleased to integrate CEIR’s operations into MISR and expand our presence particularly within the Canadian endoscope and telescope repair markets”, said Mike Merrick, General Manager of MISR.

“The acquisition of CEIR, together with its sister company Canada Endoscope Corporation (“CEC”), supports our objective to be the premier surgical products company in Canada”, said Michael Fish, President of Pacific Surgical Holdings Ltd. (“PSH”). “We are excited to ensure a successful and smooth transition and continue our mission to provide unparalleled equipment and instrument servicing to hospitals and clinics across Canada.”

Effective from March 1, customers wishing to order surgical instrument and endoscope repairs should contact Mobile Instrument Service and Repairs as follows:
