Mobile Instrument Service & Repair Acquires Cardinal Health Canada's Surgical Instrument Repair Business

OSHAWA, July 10, 2018 – Mobile Instrument Service & Repair (Canada) Ltd. (“MISR”), a privately-held Canadian provider of On-Site and Off-Site surgical instrument repair and maintenance services, is pleased to announce the purchase of Cardinal Health Canada’s surgical instrument repair business (“CHC Repair”).

CHC Instrument Repair has been a significant player in the Canadian surgical instrument repair services market for more than 15 years. CHC Instrument Repair offered On-Site repairs using three mobile repair vans strategically located in Quebec, Ontario, and Alberta. CHC Instrument Repair historically had a focus on rigid container repair and refurbishment in addition to general and specialty surgical instrument repairs.

“We are pleased to integrate CHC Instrument Repairs into MISR and expand our geographic reach for On-Site repairs”, said Mike Merrick, General Manager of MISR.

“The acquisition of the CHC Instrument Repair business, and especially the opportunity to transition its two senior sales technicians to MISR, will help to bolster our efforts to be Canada’s largest and most reliable surgical instrument repair provider”, said Patrick Haney, President of MISR. “We will work hard to ensure a successful and smooth transition for CHC Instrument Repair customers and are committed to provide these same customers the opportunity to work with MISR on a broader range of surgical instrument and medical device repairs.”
